

Part I: Domestic Capital Investment

- GDP is a record of capital spending in the U.S. The points where it changes direction usually signal shifts among the three categories of spending shown above.